

Primary National Curriculum

Knowledge and Confidence in the Wider Curriculum at KS1 and KS2

(Print out, fill in and bring with you to the course)

After having looked at the National Curriculum requirements and the Programmes of Study for Key Stages 1 and 2, consider how you feel about your own knowledge related to the subject and how confident you are about how you might teach it. What is it asking you to teach? How secure is your own knowledge and understanding related to this?

Use the scale below to indicate the state of your current subject knowledge and how confident are in being able to teach the various subjects listed.

Give yourself a score against each area and identify current areas of strength and areas for priority to develop.

1 = I am very confident / My subject knowledge is very good

2 = I am fairly confident / My subject knowledge is good

3 = I am not very confident / My subject knowledge requires improvement

4 = I really have no confidence / My subject knowledge is very limited

Name:				Date:
Knowledge				Subject in the National Curriculum 2014	Confidence
1	2	3	4		1	2	3	4
				Art and Design
				Computing
				Design and Technology
				Geography
				History
				Languages
				Music
				Physical Education
				Religious Education

Now that you have identified priority areas and areas of greater confidence and subject knowledge, select one area that you feel you need to work on most. Use the pre-course site to complete as many as the suggestions related to this area that you can in order to develop your knowledge of the curriculum to be taught and your confidence in teaching it.