

Advancing Advocacy: Challenges Ahead in Criminal Evidence and Procedure

Friday 23 June 2017 – Chaucer Building, Nottingham Trent University

9.30 am – 10 am	Registration with welcome refreshments		Chaucer building, Level 1
10 am – 10.15 am	Introduction and welcome		Chaucer lecture theatre 2
10.15 am – 11 am	Improving the reliability of forensic linguistic evidence: the potential of relevant population data.	Dr David Wright, Department of Linguistics, Nottingham Trent University	Chaucer lecture theatre 2
11 am – 11.30 am	Beliefs about memory in the public, police and memory experts.	Dr Lucy Justice, School of Psychology, Nottingham Trent University	Chaucer lecture theatre 2
11.30 am – 11.45 am	Mid-morning break		Chaucer building, Level 1
11.45 am – 12.15 pm	Alcohol and memory for sexual assault: The effects of alcohol intoxication on accuracy and the confidence-accuracy relationship in line-up identification.	Dr Heather Flowe, School of Sport, Exercise and Health Sciences Loughborough University	Chaucer lecture theatre 2
12.15 pm – 1 pm	Non-verbal witnesses in the adversarial process: Alternatives to oral evidence	Professor Jonathan Doak, Nottingham Law School, Nottingham Trent University Lauran Doak, Sheffield Hallam University	Chaucer lecture theatre 2
1 pm – 2 pm	Lunch		Chaucer building, Level 1
2 pm – 2.30 pm	“That voice sounds familiar”: Errors in memory for disguised speech	Dr Georgina Gous, School of Psychology, Nottingham Trent University	Chaucer lecture theatre 2
2.30 pm – 3 pm	“Can you believe your ears?” Issues surrounding unfamiliar voice identification evidence	Dr Harriet Smith, School of Psychology, Nottingham Trent University	Chaucer lecture theatre 2
3 pm – 3.15 pm	Afternoon break		Chaucer building, Level 1
3.15 pm – 4.15 pm	A fair “hearing”: Voice identification, parades and PACE	Jeremy Robson, Nottingham Law School, Nottingham Trent University	Chaucer lecture theatre 2
4.15 pm – 4.30 pm	Closing remarks		Chaucer lecture theatre 2